

Infant hurt, stroller hit by motorist

An infant girl was injured at 7 p.m. Monday when a motorist reportedly ran a red light, struck the baby stroller in which she was riding and left the scene.

Melvin Kelly, 2317 Madison Ave., accompanied by his wife, Nora, was pushing the stroller containing his 8-month-old daughter, Hope, across Nieringhaus Avenue toward Triangle Park when a west-bound auto went through a red traffic light at Madison Avenue and struck the stroller.

The impact threw the child onto the pavement and severely damaged the stroller. Hope was admitted for observation at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She sustained abrasions to the left side of the skull.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly were crossing Nieringhaus from the Matthews Chevrolet corner to the park area and were walking within the crosswalk, witnesses said.

Other officers the car continued after striking the stroller and was chased by two passing motorists who forced the driver to halt and return with them to the accident scene.

Charles E. Stotler, 24, of 1713 Maple St., was arrested and charged with leaving the scene of an accident involving an injury and disobeying a traffic signal.

Stotler was released from custody on payment of $75 and leaving his driver's license at 9:55 p.m. Monday, and will appear for a hearing at a future date.

News notes

Ideal holiday weather was enjoyed during the long Labor Day weekend by Quad-Cityans. The temperature reached 91 degrees Saturday, 86 Sunday and 84 Monday.

Six state troopers at Pontiac and three at Effingham received suspensions for not writing enough traffic tickets during a statewide slowdown in July. The slowdown protested a 2 1/2 per cent wage hike and lack of collective bargaining. With a radar plate providing evidence, state officials decided on suspensions after only warning tickets were issued despite motorists' speeds in excess of 65 miles an hour, it was alleged.

Michael J. Bakalis, Democratic state comptroller nominee, is proposing campaign guidelines calling for verification of political accusations before they are reported. He suggests a "fair campaign practice and coverage board" to monitor politicians and newsmen.

Time to renew lawns

Late summer or early fall—preferably September—is a good time to renew those worn lawns that are patchy with bare spots, according to Prof. Herbert L. Port, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale turfgrass specialist.

Renewing a lawn may include applications of fertilizer and agricultural lime, removing lawn thatch, and reseeding bare or thin spots with desirable grasses.

The main preparation for renewing the old lawn is to provide a good bed for seedling and apply lawn fertilizer as needed. This may require testing soil samples from the lawn to determine its needs.

Port suggests the lawn will need application of agricultural lime at the rate of 10 to 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet of lawn area if the soil tests show acid conditions (a pH value of about 5 or less). Annual or biennial follow-up lime applications will help control lawn thatch development.

If the general fertility level seems low, apply about 20 pounds of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 commercial fertilizer per 1,000 square feet. If the lawn has applications of such fertilizer or special lawn fertilizers with higher percentages of nitrogen earlier in the year, the home owner may need only a light fall application of five or 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet of a recommended high-nitrogen type lawn fertilizer.

The added nitrogen increases vigor and green color in the top growth. The organic matter content and texture of the soil can be improved by working into the bare spots some rotted sawdust, barnyard manure, dried sludge from municipal sewage treatment plants or compost material.

In rebuilding an old lawn, distribute the lime and fertilizer over the entire area, but work up only the bare or weedy spots with a rotary tiller or a hand digging tool and rake to a good level seedbed.

Rake the rest of the lawn vigorously by hand or with a power rake to remove grass clippings or thatch or weeds that can come in contact with the soil.

Renewing in September should provide sufficient time for the old grass and the new seedlings in wetting before winter.

Port suggests using good quality Kentucky bluegrass for seedling lawns in Southern Illinois. In reseedings, the existing lawn, however, must be the bare areas with the same kind of grass or mixture as the rest of the lawn.

If the lawn gets hard soil, the homeowner may want to include 4/10 or 8/10 sandy loam or some other suitable variety of the coarse grasses that grow well on poorer soils and stand more abuse and hot dry weather than bluegrass.

Such grasses as fescue need to be seeded at higher rates than are usually recommended for bluegrass.

If it isn't needed at higher rates, fescue may tend to form clumps and crowd out the lawn. Port says.

Bluegrass usually grows dormant during hot and dry summer days, especially in August, unless the lawn is kept well fertilized and the soil kept moist by adequate watering when rainfall is short. Bluegrass lawns revive and continue growth with the return

Elaborate security at conference on airport

News reporters attending last week's announcement by U.S. Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. of his approval of the application for airport construction funding at Columbia-Waterloo in Illinois were subjected to tight security before being given advance copies of Coleman's announcement.

About 30 reporters were given texts of Coleman's speech one hour before it was given, but only after agreeing to a procedure to assure the news would not "leak out" before

Coleman announced the decision.

The newsmen were locked in the reading room of the Bel Air East Hilton Hotel in downtown St. Louis at 8:30 a.m. Sept. 1 and were read the terms of the advance agreement by C. Ramon Greenwood, assistant to Secretary Coleman and director of the Department of Transportation's public affairs office.

Each was told that he would be given a text of Coleman's announcement and supporting information an hour before the announcement was to be made, but only under the stipulation that the information not be released until 10:30 a.m., or after the formal news conference concluded.

Deadline on fellowships

The American Council of Learned Societies has announced a deadline of Sept. 30 for submission of applications to the Council's fellowship program and for the grants-in-aid program for recent recipients of the doctor of philosophy degree.

The fellowship program is designed to provide opportunities for scholars to engage in research in such fields as philosophy, aesthetics, philology, languages, literature, linguistics, archaeology, art history, musicology, history, cultural anthropology and folklore.

Fellowships are intended primarily for the provision of free time and may not exceed $13,500 for a period of six to 12 months.

The grants-in-aid program for recent recipients of the Ph.D. provides a $2,000 stipend for scholars engaged in the preparation of dissertation research for publication, or other work leading to a first substantial publication. The applicant's degree must have been conferred since June 30, 1974.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIVE Office of Research and Projects located in the John S. Rendleman Building, or by calling 692-3162.

It was noted that the reporters were receiving copies of the decision at the same time the White House and federal and state officials in a separate room were receiving their first indications of Coleman's choice of an airport location.

An opportunity was given for any reporter not agreeing to be secluded until after the announcement to leave before advance texts of the speech were distributed.

One reporter did leave at that time, but the remainder stayed. Reporters were anxious to receive the news, and one questioned whether discussions on the security were taking time away from the chance to read the speech and related material. When told it was, he hastily responded, "Let's have the speech."

Copies were distributed and the room took on the atmosphere of a college library on the day of final examinations. Reporters studied each word of the lengthy document, underlining essential points and preparing lists of questions to ask Coleman.

Once the advance copies were distributed, an armed guard was placed outside the closed doors to keep the secret within the room.

One reporter requested permission to make an emergency telephone call and was told the press-conference officials would be glad to make the call for him and give the person being called a message, as long as it did not pertain to the airport. The offer was declined.

Coleman's talk was to have started at 9:30 a.m., but he was delayed about 10 minutes at Lambert Airport. At 9:40 a.m., the reporters were taken directly from the closed reading room to the main ballroom, where Coleman had arrived to make his remarks.

Security relaxed slightly, but reporters were reminded they were under a "gentlemen's and ladies' agreement" not to divulge the choice of Columbia-Waterloo before Coleman made his remarks.

Although there were some members of the public in the room, a guard was placed outside the door of the ballroom to keep the secret until 10:30 a.m. release time.

At 10:30, the guard was removed and several reporters headed for telephones to make their reports, even though the news conference with Coleman was continuing.

There were some "leaks," but the first reports were not heard by the public until after 10 a.m., more than one and a half hours after the announcement first was made to reporters.

Coleman emphasized in his remarks that he felt it was important that such a complex issue be released to the public "in a thorough, accurate and equitable manner, rather than on the basis of a few seconds' hasty perusal."

Elaborate steps were taken to help assure that this wish was fulfilled.

Two arrested

Two Venice men were arrested after police stopped a vehicle at 16th and State streets on a routine check last week. Marijuana and liquor allegedly were in the vehicle.

The driver, Robert L. Weathers, 19, of 98 Lee Wright Homes, was charged with possession of cannabis, illegal transportation of alcohol, no driver's license, no valid registration and fictitious license plates. He was released on a $4,000 recognizance bond.

A passenger, Deon Echols, 27, of 711 Webster St., was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol and was released after posting his driver's license as bond.

"Helping you change things for the better"

Percy coaxing President to broaden base of his appeal

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau
President Gerald R. Ford, having looked up a relatively conservative ticket with Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas at his side, must woo moderate Republicans and court independents and disaffected Democrats if he is to retain the White House.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, the moderate Illinoisan who would have sought the nomination himself if Mr. Ford had not announced long ago for the Presidency, believes the Republican candidate is ready to solicit the aid of moderates.

Percy, at least, suggested that to Pres. Ford following the Republican national convention in Kansas City.

"He told me he was most responsive and receptive to my comment," the senator said in an interview.

"I outlined to him what we moderates could do. We could speak where the voters are. And, because we are problem-oriented, we could do research on the issues."

Percy did not hesitate to say that if he had entered the primaries, he could have derailed Mr. Ford at the outset.

"If I had gone into New Hampshire, Ford would have lost New Hampshire. He couldn't have won the nomination. He admitted that."

But Percy stayed out and he feels the moderates have earned "a piece of the action."

"First of all," he says, "the basic decision of moderates to back Ford was right. For once, the moderates stood together and we united and decided to support Ford. It was the conservative who split off from (Sen. James L.) Buckley."

"The moderates' feeling is that having been responsible for the nomination of the President, they want to be part of the organization, part of the campaign, part of the Republican National Committee and of the administration when Ford is successfully elected."

The Ford-Dole ticket will hold the conservative flank and now Pres. Ford must "reach out" not only to Republican moderates but independents and Democrats, says Percy.

Otherwise, he will never win the election."

Sen. Percy believes it is too early to tell whether the President can pull it off, but he is heartened by recent polls "closing the gap between Ford and Carter faster than I thought it would."

Percy is not ready to go as far as Mr. Ford in saying Carter has "fear and apprehension" among the electorate.

"People do not fully understand Carter," he says in responding to the question, "They haven't seen him in situations he is going to be in if he is elected."

"How would he respond to an aggressive move in South Africa? The Middle East? We don't know. It's that lack of knowledge that gives concern."

"We'll know better in the campaign. But as for now, the risk is high."

Skepticism on special session

The Illinois Education Association has welcomed Governor Daniel Walker's call for a special session tomorrow but has expressed concern as to whether the final outcome will produce additional revenue for Illinois schools.

Dr. Curtis Ploitt, IEA executive secretary, said that while the IEA welcomes "an early opportunity to attempt overrides for some of the governor's education vetoes, we are concerned that the real issue could take a back seat to election year political parring and thrusting between the respective parties."

"We urged the governor to call a special session," he emphasizes, "but the session could end up being just another political row with kids and education getting a mauling rather than any more money."

"Republicans are opposing the governor's accelerated tax collection legislation," he said. "They say it's for fiscal reasons, but it's a pretty good bet they want to spend the money themselves if they win the governor's race."

"Chicago Democrats have been mum on any support for an override and many Democrats statewide say they are for both the tax collection acceleration and overrides, but both must pass or they won't be re-elected."

"Add to that the fact that both the House speaker and Senate president are saying that very few legislators will show up for a special session due to fall elections, and you have a potential score of zero for education and a forfeit for the legislature."

Seek rooms for students

There is a critical need for housing for students from outside this area who are planning to attend classes at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall.

Barbara Berens, coordinator of off-campus housing in the University Housing Office said, "We have a critical shortage of available housing of any and all types for SIUE students."

Needed facilities include rooms in private homes, apartment units and even houses, she said.

Every corner and cranny in the on-campus facilities has been filled, and there is a waiting list of 600 students.

SIUE officials expect to need housing for at least 1,000 prospective students before the fall quarter opens on Sept. 27.

Area home owners are being asked to "open up their hearts" to accommodate the students.

Older couples whose families have grown up and left home—or widows living alone in large homes—could earn themselves extra income by allowing students to live with them for one or more quarters, Mrs. Berens said.

Cities such as Alton, Wood River, Mitchell, Pontoon Beach, Granite City, Troy, Marine, East Alton, Madison, Venice, Roxana, Hamel, Collinsville, Hartford or Edwardsville are considered within ideal commuting distance for SIUE students.

Housing facilities on the Missouri side also would be acceptable for students, Mrs. Berens said.

Many of the single students will have their own transportation or can probably provide it if they can obtain housing near the campus, Bill Hall, director of housing, said.

Although SIUE is a commuter campus, the university has suffered from a shortage of housing for several years. Two building complexes have been constructed around the campus lake, but each fall there is a waiting list for occupancy in the living units.

The first complex, Tower Lake 1, was built and occupied in January 1970. It housed 216 women, 184 men and 148 families. Later, the complex was designated for families only, and today 248 families reside on campus.

Tower Lake II, consisting of units to house 1,000 single students, was occupied last September.

However, in March of this year, the buildings burned, displacing 32 students from the eight damaged apartments in Tower Lake II.

When the housing facilities were expanded to include the second complex, the waiting list doubled.

Even as students were moving into the new facilities, there were another 400 prospective students waiting for additional housing.

This fall, the waiting list has increased to 600 students without a place to live.

To compound the problem, international students are arriving daily from their respective countries to attend SIUE this year. The university must also find housing for them.

Usually, the university is aware when foreign students will arrive. However, sometimes the students arrive unannounced on campus, with baggage in hand and no place to spend the night.

Families who would enjoy having a foreign student live with them this winter may call the University Housing office. Representatives from many nations and cultures of the world will be attending SIUE this year.

People with available beds, rooms, apartments or homes may contact the housing office at 692-3931.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., he had resided in the Quad-City area almost all his life.

Mr. Henke was a foreman at the steel plant and had been employed there for 40 years.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1260, the Madison County Police Association and the International Police Association.

Mr. Henke was a former vice-president of the Madison County Veterinary Association, was president of the Lutheran Bureau and served as vice-president, Steve Henke Jr., Marenco, Ill., Ronald Henke of Granite City and Robert Henke of Edwardsville; one daughter, Miss Barbara Henke, one brother, William Henke of Granite City, a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pitzinger of Glen Rock, N.J., and four grandchildren.

Burglary arrest near mobile home

Granite City police on patrol at 10:15 p.m. Thursday saw a man run from the mobile home of John Buhman, 2001 Parkway West, and get into a white auto that started to leave the scene immediately.

Officers said a Cloverleaf Subdivision woman driving the car identified herself and police alleged finding a television set in the car.

A passenger in the back seat, Tim R. Braddum, 26, who said he has no permanent address, was asked to get out of the car with the television set. As Braddum approached the squad car with the set, the white auto drove from the scene, it was related.

The television was alleged to have been taken from Buhman's mobile home and Braddum was charged with burglary.

Police later located the white auto in the 2100 block of Lincoln Avenue and questioned the owners, who said they had loaned the auto to a young woman. It had been returned, and the woman and a young man friend had been driven home.

Police were continuing to search for the young woman.

Supplemental food program to benefit mothers, children

Richard Allen, president of the Madison County Social Service board, announced this week that the CYS has been designated to conduct the federally-funded Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program in the Quad-City area, effective Sept. 1.

WIC is a food supplemental program geared to the nutritional needs of pregnant women and also infants and children up to five years of age.

Dr. George T. Wilkins Jr., Granite City pediatrician, is serving as medical director for the program and will be responsible for the medical certification for WIC participation, Allen said.

Under WIC, the Department of Agriculture pays health agencies and clinics to give nutritious, high-protein foods to low income young children and women who are pregnant or nursing their babies.

The foods are delivered directly to the home by the Milkman, in some areas, and through a similar delivery system, or via vouchers which may be used to buy the special foods at grocery stores.

Despite the fact that annual funding leaped from $20 million in 1973 to the current $250 million, the public and much of the food industry knows little about the WIC program, Allen said.

WIC was conceived into law in 1972, but "only recently is getting into gear across the U.S."

In areas where the WIC has been in effect since early 1974, indications are that the program represents a new and apparently successful approach to solving problems of a segment of the malnourished poor.

Nutritional experts believe the food stamp program, school lunch and summer child-feeding programs, important as they are, cannot begin to match the long-term benefits of a good prenatal and early childhood nutrition program.

"Unless the pregnant woman and small child are properly fed, all the other feeding programs come too late," the Washington-based Children's Foundation advises.

WIC is the biggest nationwide prenatal, and early childhood feeding as well as the most productive per- and "cost effect" of today's feeding programs, many health authorities have said.

WIC also is considered a major departure from the much criticized food stamp approach, which critics say subsidizes purchases of virtually any food regardless of nutrition.

The point of attack is chronic nutritional deficiencies of pregnant women, infants and children up to five years in whom poor nutrition, at these stages, can result in injury with far-reaching effects — for example, in the learning process.

Participants, who now number about 500,000 and may ultimately reach one million, are provided with supplemental foods — milk, cereals, eggs, cereal and infant formula — mainly through coupons or vouchers, they are tagged to specific brand name products.

These products all have U.S. Department of Agriculture approval as supplying particular nutritional needs.

This is believed to be the first government program in which actual brand names are being recommended to clients.

At present, the recommendations are limited to cereal and infant formula, but eventually regulations may expand the list to other kinds of foods, in some areas.

The $250 million spent through WIC is viewed as considerable buying power likely to be further increased.

It is reported by cooperating supermarkets that two to three percent of their business is WIC-related.

Authorities say the key to getting a share of such business is adhering to the approved USDA lists. This is accomplished by having food items conform nutritionally to USDA standards for WIC participants.

Program officials also noted that it is important for business firms to keep a close eye on how WIC evolves, and a closer look on nutrition of regulations offered by companies.

The program is said to have enormous potential for preventing the consequences of early nutritional gaps.

In dollar terms alone, a 1968 Bureau of Economic Affairs report estimated that the elimination of poverty-related hunger and malnutrition in the United States would bring a threefold return on taxpayers' investment.

An "investment" of $1 billion now would bring back $3 billion eventually — in the form of increased taxes from more productive people and enterprises, it is contended. And that is not counting the human and improved health, the authorities add.

Quad-City residents who are interested in taking part in the WIC program may call the CYS office, at 876-2383, for additional information and an explanation of eligibility requirements.

surrounding area of Illinois and Missouri.

Coleman's key role in such a significant and unifying regional development, recalls the long history of white and black Illinoisians' progress.

Just as Coleman symbolizes a generally constructive era in the current century, historians recall more troubled times in the 19th century.

To some students of Illinois history, the key to understanding remains the antebellum period when the ineffectively challenged institution of slavery kept the great majority of American blacks locked in the South.

Other answers may seem to be the provision of the Illinois constitution of 1848 that barred free blacks from the state.

Article XIV of that document read as follows:

"The General Assembly shall, at its first session after the amended constitution, pass such laws as will effectually prohibit free persons of color from immigrating to and settling in this state; and to effectually prevent the owners of slaves from bringing them into this state for the purpose of setting them free."

In 1853, a law was passed making it a crime to bring free blacks into the state, while a harsh Black Code made it unlawful for those already in the state to leave.

Whatever the reason, blacks in Illinois numbered only 7,628 in 1860 and only 28,000 in 1870 after the Civil War.

Prohibitions were removed by the events of Civil War and Reconstruction.

In the postwar period, numerous small towns began to speak of and enforce "ordinances" that forbade blacks from crossing the city limits or to remain in town after dark.

Perhaps part of the antagonism of that generation was based on use of black strikebreakers in some labor disputes.

The number and distribution of newspapers picking up stories of labor-race conflicts and the amount of space devoted to them testify to the importance they held in the minds of Illinoisans.

Such strikebreakers were used to break miners' strikes in St. Clair County, February 1874, in Braidwood, April 1877, in Rapid City, July 1880, in Springfield, November 1880, in Grape Creek, July 1886, in Carverville, May 1888, in Pana, August 1888, in Virden, September 1888.

In the meantime, much publicity had been devoted to black strikebreakers in the Chicago stockyards in 1886 and on railroads in 1894.

They were imported from southern states, and in most instances were unaware of the role they would play once they had arrived in Illinois or the violence which would grow up around that role.

By 1898, many communities had established their own regulations, reinforced by a state law passed the following year which made it a crime for any individual or company to persuade workers to come to Illinois or to change jobs by false representation of the kind of work to be done, the pay, the conditions of employment, or the existence of a local union.

It also forbade the hiring of out-of-state persons to guard property.

By 1900, blacks in Illinois numbered only 44,468 of a total population of 4,821,550.

Attitudes shaped by the 19th century conflicts exploded into full-scale disorders in the new century, at Springfield on Aug. 14 and 15, 1908 at East St. Louis on May 28 and July 2, 1917, and at Chicago from July 27 to Aug. 2, 1919.

Coleman's landmark decision last week, among other things, assures fair play for all so-called minorities — including women and various racial groups — in contracts, operations, activities and other aspects of the new airport.

It also mandates labor-management harmony during airport construction, including no-strike guarantees.

Two injured

Miss Ramona Huff, 16, of 2645 Delmar Ave., and Miss Laura Lee, 16, of 2940 Iowa St., were injured at 11 p.m. Sunday when an auto driven by Miss Huff struck an auto belonging to Robert Jones, 258 Washington Ave., parked at that address.

Miss Huff said she was turning left from 23rd Street onto Washington Avenue when another vehicle crossed her car to the side, causing the accident.

She reportedly struck her head and mouth on the steering wheel and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a laceration to her upper gum before being released. Miss Lee, a passenger, hit her head on the windshield and was released from the hospital to consult a private physician.

Such strikebreakers were used to break miners' strikes in St. Clair County, February 1874, in Braidwood, April 1877, in Rapid City, July 1880, in Springfield, November 1880, in Grape Creek, July 1886, in Carverville, May 1888, in Pana, August 1888, in Virden, September 1888.

In the meantime, much publicity had been devoted to black strikebreakers in the Chicago stockyards in 1886 and on railroads in 1894.

They were imported from southern states, and in most instances were unaware of the role they would play once they had arrived in Illinois or the violence which would grow up around that role.

By 1898, many communities had established their own regulations, reinforced by a state law passed the following year which made it a crime for any individual or company to persuade workers to come to Illinois or to change jobs by false representation of the kind of work to be done, the pay, the conditions of employment, or the existence of a local union.

It also forbade the hiring of out-of-state persons to guard property.

By 1900, blacks in Illinois numbered only 44,468 of a total population of 4,821,550.

Attitudes shaped by the 19th century conflicts exploded into full-scale disorders in the new century, at Springfield on Aug. 14 and 15, 1908 at East St. Louis on May 28 and July 2, 1917, and at Chicago from July 27 to Aug. 2, 1919.

Coleman's landmark decision last week, among other things, assures fair play for all so-called minorities — including women and various racial groups — in contracts, operations, activities and other aspects of the new airport.

It also mandates labor-management harmony during airport construction, including no-strike guarantees.

Miss Ramona Huff, 16, of 2645 Delmar Ave., and Miss Laura Lee, 16, of 2940 Iowa St., were injured at 11 p.m. Sunday when an auto driven by Miss Huff struck an auto belonging to Robert Jones, 258 Washington Ave., parked at that address.

Miss Huff said she was turning left from 23rd Street onto Washington Avenue when another vehicle crossed her car to the side, causing the accident.

She reportedly struck her head and mouth on the steering wheel and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a laceration to her upper gum before being released. Miss Lee, a passenger, hit her head on the windshield and was released from the hospital to consult a private physician.

Mrs. Devany dies at 75

Mrs. Emma Lilly (Kluney) Devany, 75, of 1222 Robin St., Venice, died at 1:30 p.m. Friday at Colonial Nursing Home in Maryville where she had been a patient for the past five years.

Mrs. Devany was born in St. Louis and was a resident of Venice 45 years.

She is survived by two sons, Leo Devany Jr., Venice, and Henry Devany of Collinsville; a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Patricia) Biltrey of Venice; a sister, Mrs. William (Alice) Mohrman, St. Louis, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Volunteers

Present plans are for all residents of Madison County, 10 years of age and older to be inducted during a ten-day period, Nov. 12-21.

This ten-day "blitz" period and the exact dates it will take place were designated by the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Hagauer said institutionalized residents will be handled on an individual basis, with authorization from their physician.

In order to facilitate the administration of the program, Hagauer indicated that the county will be divided into four regions.

Region I will include Collinsville, Edwardsville, Chouteau, Nameoki, Granite City and Venice Townships.

Region II will include Port Russell, Moro, Foster, Wood River, Alton and Godfrey Townships.

Region III will include Helvetia, Saline, St. Jacob, Marine, Jarvis and Pin Oak Townships.

Region IV will include Lee, New Douglas, Olive, Alhambra, Omphigh and Hamel Townships.

In each of the regions, Hagauer said it is planned to establish clinical sites in buildings centrally located and well known to residents of the area.

General locations will be as follows: Region I, Granite City, Edwardsville, Collinsville, Madison and Venice; Region II, Alton, Godfrey, Wood River and Belleville; Region III, Helvetia and Troy; and Region IV, Livingston.

Hagauer indicated that the clinics will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. if sufficient numbers of people volunteer to work.

Specific clinic locations and exact dates of operation for each will be announced when all sites are confirmed, he said.

Hagauer said that there will be two types of vaccine available.

The Bivalent will be administered to those citizens who have chronic diseases and/or are 55 years of age and older.

Chronic diseases are defined as such chronic health problems as (1) heart disease of any etiology, particularly with mitral stenosis or cardiac failure; (2) chronic bronchopulmonary diseases, such as asthma, chronic bronchitis, emphysema; (3) chronic renal failure; and (4) diabetes mellitus and other chronic metabolic disorders.

All other citizens 18 and older will be inducted with the Monovalent vaccine.

"If you have any doubt as to which of the above two categories applies to you," Hagauer said, "the state suggests that you contact your physician."

Pioneer businesswomen subject of gift book

Copies of "Enterprising Women," an account of a number of women who pioneered the way in American business since colonial days, will be presented to each of the four high schools in the Quad-City area by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

The initial presentation was made last week at the Madison High School library, with the book accepted by Principal Richard Corbin.

Mrs. Ruth Buer, BPW Foundation chairman, and Mrs. Carolyn Koester, Young Careerist chairman, made the presentation on behalf of the club.

The book is being sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Foundation as a Bicentennial project.

Written from the viewpoint of an economist, as well as a leading author-lecturer, Caroline Bird's latest book already is in its fourth printing.

Since her best seller, "Born Female," was published some years ago, she has continued her study of the economic role women have played in the United States and the specific barriers which have confronted them, Mrs. Buer explained.

Mrs. Bird was a principal speaker at the BPW's national convention in July at Denver, Colo. It was noted by Mrs. Buer, the publisher has agreed to return 40 per cent of all book sales to the BPW Foundation to be used for Career Advancement Scholarships. The local BPW chairman said a $200 scholarship grant is available through the club for a BPW member wishing to further her career through continuing education.

Members interested in the grant are being asked to contact Mrs. Buer, at 831-3461 after 4 p.m., prior to Oct. 15.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL WILLIAMS. They were united in marriage at the Faith Chapel General Baptist Church. The bride is formerly Helen Adell Hafner, a daughter of Mrs. Helen L. Hafner, 1424 Fourth St. and the late Louis E. Hafner.

Helen Hafner marries Michael Lee Williams

Miss Helen Adell Hafner became the bride of Michael Lee Williams in an evening ceremony on Aug. 20 at the Faith Chapel General Baptist Church.

The Rev. Larry O'Dell performed a double ring ceremony at 6:30 o'clock.

Nuptial selections included "Theme from Love Story" and "More."

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Helen L. Hafner, 1424 Fourth St., Madison, and the late Louis E. Hafner. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Williams, 1913 Joy Ave.

For her wedding, the bride chose a full length lace gown fashioned with an oval neckline long sleeves and a full bouffant tiered skirt.

She wore a profile lace headpiece to secure her shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of red roses, white mums and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Lisa Brame and bridesmaid Miss Janet Reele wore identical peach colored gowns.

Each carried a bouquet of mixed summer blossoms.

The flower girl, Gracie Hafner, a sister of the bride, was dressed in a short peach frock and wore a wrist corsage of summer flowers.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Donnie Williams. Another brother, Ronnie Williams was the groomsmen and ushers included Steven Brower and Steven Easler.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held in the church fellowship hall.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School North and is employed at Tri-City Speedway. Her husband is a South High School graduate and is employed at the Purdy Co. Madison.

Choir Carnival at Third Baptist

Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave. will be having a choir carnival Wednesday, Sept. 8th, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Featured will be the "Ramblelows", an animated dramatic troupe from Missouri. This production uses six life size puppets, a stage measuring 24 feet wide, stereo sound system, special lighting and staging techniques, and a cast of five puppeteers.

The Ramblelows presented their fascinating program to audiences at Six Flags, this summer.

Plans for the carnival also include clowns, booths and games, free popcorn, cotton candy, cold drinks, balloons and prizes.

The choir carnival will "kick off" the choir year for three of the churches children's choirs, the Music Activity Choir for four and five year olds directed by Alicia Hendrickson; the Music Makers for first through third graders led by Bonnie Nadings; and the Young Musicians for fourth through sixth graders conducted by Steve Hall.

John Nadings, Minister of Music, invites all children of the community to come at 6:30 p.m. for the carnival. The public is also invited to see and hear the Ramblelows at 7:15 p.m.

Hornbergers honored on golden anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hornberger, 907 Lee Ave., Madison, was observed last week at the Madison Recreation Center.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hornberger are active in the Madison Senior Citizens Organization, Hornberger serving as a trustee of the club headed by Mrs. Dorothy Bridick.

The guest book was presided over by Mrs. Alice Price, vice president of the club, with approximately 200 friends, relatives and members of the senior citizen club attending.

The tables were adorned with floral bouquets and numerals in gold. Each table was centered with a crystal bud vase holding fresh flowers.

Mrs. Hornberger is the former Ruby Matthews, formerly of Venice. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Matthews, who later moved to West Eminence, Mo.

Hornberger is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hornberger, who resided in Venice. The couple was united in marriage at the First Baptist Church in Madison, with the Rev. Webb officiating on Aug. 28, 1926.

Mrs. Hornberger served as a nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a number of years prior to her retirement. Her husband was employed by the Illinois Power Company for 42 years prior to his retirement in 1967.

The Hornbergers are the parents of a son, Danny, and a daughter, Mrs. Jewell Behrhorst, who resides with her husband, the Rev. Wallace Behrhorst, in Winfield, Kan.

They have ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Among those seated at the head table were the honorees and Rev. and Mrs. Behrhorst and family, Danny Hornberger, sisters of Mrs. Hornberger and their families and brothers of Hornberger and their families.

At the conclusion of the dinner hour, Mrs. Bridick presented a gift to the Hornbergers from the Madison Senior Citizens. They also received gifts from other friends and guests.

Mayor Mike Sasek and his wife, Winnie, were greeted by the guests and their families. Pete Kello entertained the group with a number of dance selections.

Science fiction buff enrolls at university

One day soon, a science fiction fan magazine (or fanzine) may make its appearance on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, but people who know Michael Bracken won't be at all surprised. After all, Bracken, who will be a freshman at SIUE this fall, has published a science fiction fanzine off and on since he was a sophomore in high school back in California.

A fanzine is a publication by, for and about science fiction fandom, a select group of people who share their comments and criticisms about science fiction.

Using equipment belonging to the school's newspaper, Bracken and a friend, Joe Walter, produced a 20-page issue of a "zine" which they christened "Knights of the Paper Spaceship."

The name of the fiction publication was later shortened to "Knights," named for Damon Knight, who founded the Science Fiction Writers of America organization.

However, contributions to the first issue were fiction, not necessarily science fiction.

Many of his classmates and friends became interested in contributing to the publication. That created a problem for the two young writers.

"There was no one left to contribute to the school's literary magazine. The journalism teacher was upset. Joe worked out the problem. He had an OK relationship with the teacher," Bracken said.

With each issue, the small magazine became more and more professional, moving from a single column page to double column pages.

The first copies had been given away, but Bracken soon learned that to keep the magazine going he had to have money for materials and equipment.

"Copies were mailed to other high school English departments within the state, and more student contributions began to trickle in," Bracken said.

By the end of the boys' junior year, an editor was needed for the school newspaper. Walter dropped the magazine and became the newspaper editor. Bracken was alone.

A mimeograph machine purchased by the boys had worn out, so Bracken's mother underwrote the cost of a new one. Bracken continued to publish. But what had been a 300-copy run had dropped to 75 copies.

By the end of 1975, more than $2,000 had been poured into the little magazine, and Bracken didn't even have a job. Then disaster struck in the life of Mike Bracken; his mother died. It was a terrible blow to the young man, and he went to live with his grandparents in Tacoma, Wash.

It was a difficult time in the young editor's life. The enthusiasm for life had gone out of the writer, but he never really lost interest in the fanzine.

The fanzine was the only thing tying me to the real world," Bracken recalls.

Members of his family couldn't understand his struggle with the little science fiction magazine, but his grandmother had faith in him and his writing.

While Bracken was struggling to find himself again, a writer from SIUE was contributing to several fanzines. Rick Wilber, a journalism instructor, is an avid science fiction writer and fan.

After reading one of Wilber's articles in Title, another science fiction magazine, Bracken wrote Wilber and requested permission to publish a longer version of the printed article in Knights.

An envelope bearing the return address of SIUE inspired Bracken to inquire about the university. "I wrote Rick and asked him to tell me about SIUE. He told me about SIUE, and so here I am," Bracken said.

Wilber's encouragement led Bracken to apply for admission to the university.

While he is a student at SIUE, Bracken hopes to learn how to produce an even more professional magazine, through knowledge of art, English, journalism and business.

The fanzine will probably surface this winter when Bracken discovers how to obtain the necessary materials and equipment. "Right now, I'm touch-and-go with the project. I don't even have a typewriter."

Bee, wasp treatment

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT

Ornamental Horticulturist
Bees and wasps in shrubbery are tough customers unless you treat at night and use a fast knockdown material.

Bees and wasps often build paperlike nests under eaves or in shrubs and protected places. Disturbing the nest during the daytime can cause you or your family to be stung or harassed for several days.

Treat the nest at night by squirting a blast of carbaryl, dichlorvos, or malathion into the nest.

Thoroughly wet the nest and nearby twigs. Dust combinations are equally effective. If none of these are in your home pesticide arsenal, you can get a wasp and hornet aerosol bomb at garden stores. These bombs shoot a stream of material for several feet.

A combination of knockdown and knockout materials in these bombs make them a handy addition to your pesticide supplies.

Yellow jackets often build their nest underground. Their temperamental nature requires extreme care during the daytime. Treat the underground nest with carbaryl. Promptly plug the opening with soil after treatment.

ARRESTED YOUNG WOMEN

Cathy Griffin, 17, and Debbie L. Wickham, 17, both of 1939 Grand Ave., were arrested at their apartment at 9:05 a.m. Wednesday and were charged with criminal trespass. Two persons allegedly entered another apartment in the building without the landlord's permission.

Delayed airport economic impact

When and if a St. Louis area airport is finally built in the Columbia-Waterloo area, it will be several years before a big economic impact is felt on the east side of the metropolitan area, according to David E. Ault, chairman of the department of economics at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Ault said that when actual construction of the airport is begun, economic activity in the surrounding area will boom during the last five years of its construction.

"Land speculation will cause prices to go up initially," Ault said. "That will be the immediate economic impact for the Columbia-Waterloo area."

"But this initial economic impact will be small," he predicted.

He added that when construction on the airport is finally scheduled, after court battles concerning the location of the site are finished, it will take at least another 10 years for the airport to be built.

"The first three years of construction will generate little economic activity, but the last five years of construction will generate great economic impact with construction revenues being poured into the area."

"Housing, food and services will have to be provided. The economy of the area will expand greatly," Ault said.

"Once the airport is completed, there will be further construction," he said.

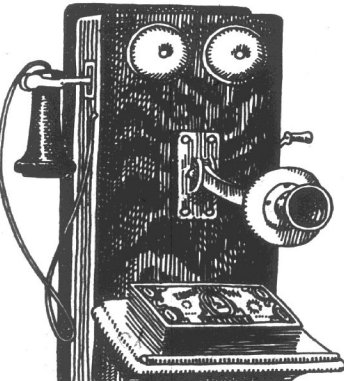

"The impact will be significant, with several thousands of new jobs and several millions of dollars being added to the economy of the area."

Area residents shouldn't count their chickens before they hatch, Ault warned, he said the time frame for the economic boom is an important factor to keep in mind.

One projected opening date for the proposed airport is 1992. Once construction begins, its impact will be felt all over the area.

"Money from Monroe County will spill over into Belleville and Cahokia. They will expand southward toward the Columbia area," Ault predicted.

Approach of football season recalls achievements of past

Quad-City area high schools take to the gridiron this week with each coach hopeful of producing a winning season and perhaps a berth in the Illinois High School Association state playoffs.

Coach Tom Wyrostek's GCHS North Steeles will be the first football team to open the 1976 season, playing at Cahokia on Friday.

GCHS South, led by Stan Wojcik, and Madison High, coached by Nick Jakich, both open their seasons on Saturday, South's Warriors at St. Louis.

DeSmet and Madison's Trojans

St. Genevieve, Mo., are independent, not belonging to a specific conference.

North High is the newest school here, having initiated its football program in 1973 with Wyrostek as head coach.

The Steeles have posted a three-season record of 18-10-1, having earned their way into the state playoffs in 1973. Last year, North had a 6-3-1 record.

Venice High School participated in the sport from 1936 through 1945.

North wins opener with tight defense and a Szeles goal

GCHS North opened its 1976 soccer season at Quincy High School on Saturday, meeting a solid defense which allowed the Steeles only 15 shots on goal. Steve Szeles will be the ball sailing into a corner of the net in the second half of play for a 1-0 North High victory.

Coach Robert Kehoe explained that the goal came with nine minutes left to play in the contest when Szeles executed a cornerkick and the ball was headed back toward him by Freshman Mark Jones. Szeles then power kicked the ball toward the goal and it went into the net at the far side post.

The Steeles committed 17 fouls to the hosts' 11. North goalie Mike Hill had one save while Quincy's goalkeeper stopped five from entering the net.

North's defense proved tougher than the hosts, allowing Quincy only one shot on goal.

Robinson said Baker finished the event in 14 minutes, 33 seconds. "Baker's time," noted Robinson, "is 40 seconds faster than any athlete has ever finished on this course before."

Placing in order behind Baker were Greg Stout, 15:18; Don Lucy, 15:38; and Dave Ebrecht, 15:48.

Mike Johns placed 10th, Ed Futch 11th and Royce Meyenburg 13th for North.

Warrior Glen Ahlers finished in 16:06 for fifth position as North took positions five through nine. Next were Dave Taylor, 16:22; Dave Blackwell, 16:28; Randy Houston, 16:31; and James Dumont, 16:35.

Greg Ahlers was 12th and Ken Meagher 16th.

For the first three years, under Coach Carl Bolin, an attempt was made to make a full-scale program of football against large-enrollment schools. The Red Devils soon discovered they couldn't compete with huge schools where the sport was firmly established.

The first Venice game on record was a 20-0 loss to Madison. The Devils went on to post a 1-4 mark in 1936, with the victory a 14-12 decision over Dupu.

The next season, Venice lost all of its games—to Madison 41-0, Belleville Cathedral 20-0, Dupu 20-6 and Hannibal, Mo., 20-0. But fortunes were destined to improve.

Switching to a more conservative schedule in 1938, Venice had a 4-1 record.

But after that season, Venice football began to decline, with the Devils playing mostly "B" teams and taking a whirl at "lightweight football," where the opposing teams were matched up evenly by poundage, and also trying six-man football.

Zahn Wells was hired as coach for the final season of Venice football in 1945.

That final year, Venice had 17 athletes out for the sport. The

Madison grid fans may best remember 1957, the year the Trojans were on the brink of posting their first undefeated conference season enroute to

Red Devils chose to turn to fall baseball.

Venice has since become one of the Class A basketball powers in Illinois numbering the state championship among its trophies.

Madison High School joined the gridiron battle first in 1929, with Paul Robe heading the team as coach.

The Trojans became members of the rugged Southwestern Conference in 1930 and were unable to post an overall winning season until 1955, when the squad had a 5-4-1 season under Coach Karl Berninger.

The Trojans dropped out of the conference for two seasons, 1941-42, and rejoined the Southwestern Conference in 1943, competing five more years before becoming an independent school again in 1948.

In 1962, Madison became a member of the Midwestern Conference and went on to capture conference championship under Coaches Francis Dant, Glen Pickering and Al Vander Haar before again giving independent.

Madison grid fans may best remember 1957, the year the Trojans were on the brink of posting their first undefeated conference season enroute to an 8-1 record and the Midwestern Conference title.

That was the year Senior Hallback Larry Ferguson captured a brilliant three-year career by scoring 171 points with 27 touchdowns and nine extra points. Over a three-year period, Ferguson scored 378 points for the Trojans.

In Madison's final game of the 1957 season against Collinsville, Ferguson gained 284 yards rushing in 21 carries, including a 72-yard touchdown run. Madison suffered its only loss of the season in that contest, losing 26-19.

That year, Madison defeated Granite City High School by a score of 24-7.

Granite City High School, now GCHS South, entered the football scene in 1921 with Coach J. C. Dolly heading the team.

Two years later, Granite City joined the Southwestern Conference and captured its first conference title in 1928 with a perfect 9-0 overall record and a 6-0 conference mark with second-year mentor Byron Bozarth at the helm.

The school repeated its conference championship in 1930 and again in 1932 under Bozarth.

The 1928 Warrior team was declared the unofficial state champion and the 1930 team went undefeated in 10 games although playing two scoreless ties with East St. Louis.

Coach Bozarth, who had led the school to its first winning season in 1927, had 110 candidates for the '28 squad, veteran fans recall.

The 1928 team blanked six opponents—Mount Olive 7-0, Wood River 19-0, Alton 15-0, East St. Louis 13-0, Staunton 16-0 and Edwardsville 32-0. The Warrior team in its nine victories scored 184 points to its opponents' 18.

The triumph over East St. Louis won the conference title and the upset over Staunton's Miners, South Central Conference champions and unbeaten in eight previous games, earned Granite City the right to claim it was the top team in Illinois—at least outside of the Chicago area.

Granite City's 1930 squad averaged only about 150 pounds in its starting lineup but had a tough defense which twice led to scoreless deadlocks with East St. Louis.

During a contest against Edwardsville, with Granite City holding a 13-6 lead at halftime, Coach Bozarth had vision of Granite City having its undefeated streak blemished.

In a locker room talk with

Coach Bozarth, nine senior members who had been with the team four seasons explained the problem: "We want to play all of this final game, so we thought if we kept the score down, you wouldn't take us out."

Coach Bozarth told the seniors, "If you go out there and play football like I know you can, I'll guarantee I won't take you out."

The final score was Granite City 65, Edwardsville 6.

Although never champion of the Southwestern Conference in football, Madison won the Midwestern title in 1955, 1957, 1961 and 1969.

The Southwestern grid championship was won by the Warriors in such years as 1929, 1930, 1932 and 1946—the latter year under Lawrence McQuay. Granite City tied in 1958 for the Madison-St. Clair Athletic Association championship.

Wallace comes from behind to capture 50-lap title race

Mike Wallace and Granite City's Ron Perkins were heat race winners.

Russ Wallace, defending late model division champion and current point leader, captured his division's main event on the half-mile track. Bill Myers of East Alton was second, Leroy Rohmeier third, Mike Hammerle fourth and Rip Welsh fifth.

Heat race victors were Wil Spalding of Ponton Beach, Don Carter of Hillsboro, Ill., and Jim Harter of East Alton.

Carter also captured a semi-main event race, and Len Gittenmeier of St. Charles led Rohmeier and Spalding across the finish line in the trophy dash.

Wallace sped past Krohn at the same time and later passed Wolfmeier to go on for the win. Finishing in order behind the top three cars were Jerry Zehnle, Bill Ried, Leroy Davis and Chuck Milam.

Mt. Vernon a North grid foe

GCHS North has completed its 1976 grid season schedule, filling an open date on Saturday, Oct. 9, with a 1 p.m. contest at Mount Vernon.

Following a scrimmage by the Steeles, Coach Tom Wyrostek said he feels confident that North will have the ability to run with the ball more this season. The 1976 campaign starts Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Cahokia.

With speed in the backfield provided by Fred Clay, Leo Pelek and Joe O'Garra, Wyrostek said the unit is bolstered by Bruce Jaffe, who ran 90 yards for a touchdown during the scrimmage game.

"Right now we are working to find a starting kicker," the head coach added.

Vying for the kicking duties are Quarterback Greg Corey, Walter Fabry and Mike Sherman.

He also said attempts are being made to tune-up the defensive unit.

"The talent is there to be developed. They'll be ready," he commented.

North golf loss

GCHS North golfers lost 165-158 Thursday afternoon on the front nine holes at Arlington Golf Course to visiting Alton. The Steeles were paced by Dan Harper's 39. George Bartz scored 41, Mike Cella 42 and Russ Chappell Jr., 43.

No losses for Mexican team in winning holiday tourney

Mexican Honorary Commission was defeated in capturing a 19-team Granite City Park District men's Labor Day softball tournament played at Worthen Park and West Granite Park.

The champions defeated the Raiders 12-6 last night for the title.

Winning pitcher John Meszaros allowed the Raiders 13 hits. Seven errors combined with 14 hits by Mexican Honorary Commission players during the scrimmage game.

Dennis Sedabres collected a double for the victors, and Gary Rapp had a homer for the Raiders.

Progress by offensive line

GCHS South's football Warriors have not participated in full-scale scrimmage action thus far, but have been working out in what Coach Stan Wojcik describes as a "controlled scrimmage."

He explains that the ball is placed on the 20-yard line and scoring attempts are made from that point. If an attempt is stopped, the ball is moved back to its original position.

We are pleased with the protection Quarterback Keith Champion will get this year," says Wojcik.

Slated for duty Saturday at 2 p.m. at St. Louis DeSmet on the offensive line are Danny Staunton, a 190-pound center, and Guards John Bogosian at 190, Joe Parente at 170 and Bobby Gauen at 180.

Seeing action at tackle positions will be Paul Evans and Kevin Wilson, each weighing 215 pounds.

Giving the Warriors running punch are three players with two years' varsity experience, Cliff Moran, Mike Clark and John Shewell.

Baker first in Steeler 21-school harrier meet

Steeler Mike Baker ran himself into his school's record book Saturday morning, winning a 21-school cross-country meet on GCHS North's 2.5-mile course in 13 minutes, 56 seconds for a new course record and first-place honors in the second annual event hosted by North High and won again by Lebanon.

The Greyhounds had 61 points; Alton was second with 74, Peoria Central third with 92, Belleville West fourth with 134 and North fifth with 148. GCHS South placed ninth as a team with 259 points.

Baker and Lebanon's Harvey Thomas charged out in front at the sound of the starter's signal, pulling away from the other runners to challenge each other for the lead for more than two miles.

With about a half-mile remaining to the finish line,

Baker pulled away from Thomas and finished 10 seconds ahead of second-place runner Paul Kish of O'Fallon, who also snapped the old mark.

Kish turned it on in the remaining distance to finish ahead of Thomas, who placed third.

Greyhound Greg Hogg, who took individual honors last year with a time of 14:10, finished ninth in 14:28.

Finishing in order behind the top three harriers were Shawn Stever of Peoria Central, Terry Grunden of Lebanon, Parker of Peoria Central, Ellington of Mascoutah, Wigger of Alton, Hogg and Gardner of Centralia.

Aiding the Stealers' overall point earning effort (with finishing order given) were Don Lucy 20th, Dave Ebrecht 22nd, Greg Stout 30th, Ed Putsch 35th, Mike Johns 38th and Royce Meyenburg 90th.

Glen Ahlers was the first Warrior runner to cross the finish line, in 41st position.

Other GCHS South harriers were Ken Meagher 52nd, Dave Blackwell 57th, Dave Houston 58th, Dave Taylor 62nd, James Dumont 68th and Mike DeGonia 93rd.

Tiger runner John Brucher took individual honors in a sophomore meet in 15:21, leading Edwardsville to a team win with 48 points.

Belleville West placed second with 58, East St. Louis Lincoln third with 70, East St. Louis Senior High fourth with 138 and GCHS North fifth with 144. GCHS South fielded only four runners in the competition.

Steeler sophomores who placed were Kent Monical 20th, Jim Edwards 23rd, Chris Rogenski 31st, Aaron Hickam 35th, Ken Putsch 38th, Jeff Mundy 44th and Dan Webb 54th.

Mercer shut out but gains 2-1 and 10-7 wins for championship

Mercer Mortuary yesterday posted a 10-7 come-from-behind victory at East Alton's Van-preter Park, beating the Vans to claim the 1976 Illinois Inter-City Baseball League playoff championship.

Coach Wendell Corey's Mercer nine on Sunday split a twinnbill at Wilson Park with the Vans. Mercer lost 4-0 and then won 2-1.

Playing yesterday, Labor Day, on the defending champions' diamond, Mercer hurler Pat Harris started on the mound but was relieved in the top of the fifth inning. The hosts scored five runs in the second inning and two in the fifth for a 7-1 lead.

Mercer had scored a run in the second when Bob Hughes reached base on an error, Larry Corey sacrificed him to second and Dave Schaake singled Hughes home.

Relief hurler Jerry Demei held the Vans scoreless for the remainder of the nine-inning contest while Mercer put together a nine-run sixth inning. Jim Greenwald led off the sixth with a solo homer. Bob Scott doubled, Hughes walked, Corey was safe on a fielder's choice that retired Hughes, and Dave Schaake hit a two-run double.

Ken Schaake reached on an error. Demei got an infield hit, Jack Scarborough singled, Dennis Harrington walked, Greenwald singled, Bob Scott hit a sacrifice fly and Hughes singled to drive in the final run. After being shut out Sunday by the Vans, Mercer bounced back in the second game behind the pitching of Stan Osterber. The Vans went ahead 10-1 with a run in the second inning, but Mercer tied it in the fifth when Scott singled, Hughes sacrificed him to second and Dave Schaake doubled.

The winning run was scored in the final inning when Dave Schaake doubled; Harrington reached base on an error and Ken Schaake singled.

School drive for physical fitness, sports equipment

St. Elizabeth School kicked off a collection drive today aimed at acquiring "new and much-needed physical fitness and sports equipment."

The equipment will be provided by Post Cereal brands of the General Foods Corporation in exchange for the number of Post Cereal boxtops needed for any one piece of equipment.

Jim Ryan, former world record holder for the mile run, is the special projects director for this program. A longtime supporter of school athletic programs, Ryan comments, "Our youth deserve the very best physical education program we can give them, and I am honored to part of this worthwhile effort."

A school spokesman said, "We're delighted to be able to get some equipment free, and we hope all our friends will help us reach our goal."

"Box tops from Post Cereal brands (any size package) will count toward the goal and they may be turned over to St. Elizabeth School students or delivered to the school any time before March 31, 1977."

"The collection program will be under the auspices of Miss Rosemary Tomlovic (one of the eighth grade teachers at St. Elizabeth.)"

The school is located at 2300 Pontoon Road and has a student population of 226 in grades one through eight. Sister Margaret Mary, C.D.P., is the principal. Keith Scannell is head of the physical education program.

People who sit in a Volkswagen Rabbit for the first time are often surprised. And it's no wonder. 87% of the space in the car is totally devoted to functional room. Like as much headroom and legroom as some mid-sized cars. And more trunk space with the rear seat folded down than a Cadillac Fleetwood. Few cars in the world give you all this room. And no other car... none that we know of... gives you all this room plus the performance and overall economy of a Rabbit. Of course, the mileage you get can vary, depending on how and where you drive, optional equipment and the condition of your car.) New airport can spark prosperity in all areas of region

Congressman Melvin Price of this district made a noteworthy comment this Labor Day in responding to questions about U.S. Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman's decision to approve Illinois' application to build a major airport south of here.

Cong. Price voiced doubt that future judicial, legislative or administrative opposition could or would block the project. The reason he cites is that the second airport, while not equally convenient to all areas of the bi-state region, is vital to both Missouri and Illinois because it can enable the metropolitan area to remain competitive with other regions.

Similar sentiment was expressed Sept. 1 by Secretary Coleman. "It has been argued that there is no need to make a decision on approving the grant for land acquisition at this time. The argument is made that Lambert can handle estimated aviation demand through the early 1990s, that airport development takes approximately ten years, and this therefore allows several years in which to reach firmer conclusions regarding such matters as future aviation demand and technological developments before a final decision is made."

The years of study and analysis have resulted in sufficient information to be able to make this decision today with a reasonable degree of certainty regarding its positive impacts in the future. Any additional facts to be gained by delaying this decision would not be worth the difficulties, uncertainties and dislocations caused by the delay itself. Among these potentially adverse effects are, of course, the uncertainties associated with future financing of Lambert improvements and the future availability of the Columbia-Waterloo site.

Lambert Airport cannot be expanded to meet the future aviation needs of this metropolitan area. Thus, to delay further this decision while Missouri studies alternatives to the Columbia-Waterloo proposal would have detrimental effects on the region.

"The St. Louis metropolitan area deserves an opportunity to remain a great city, with a bright outlook for financial, cultural and social expansion."

It has been a hub for transportation activity in the past and should not be denied the chance to retain that position in the future. To continue to delay this decision, to procrastinate in the development of adequate facilities, or to foster dissension rather than an even greater transportation and industrial center, would be most undesirable.

Columbia, like O'Hare, can provide a multi-state impact

Guest comment by U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy of Illinois. The decision to locate a new airport in the Columbia-Waterloo area is a major investment in the future for both southwestern Illinois and the St. Louis metropolitan area.

The decision meets the long-range economic, environmental and aeronautical needs of the entire two-state region. The new airport will be a powerful magnet to draw industry and jobs to the entire region, thus serving the major population center of St. Louis and surrounding communities in both Missouri and Illinois.

The new airport will allow for careful environmental planning and will meet the aviation needs of this important transportation hub well into the next century. Current expansion of Lambert will help assure that aviation needs in the region are met through the 1980s and 1990s; Lambert is currently undergoing a major improvement program.

The new Columbia-Waterloo facility will help reverse the drain of industry and jobs to other states and will help make the St. Louis area an even greater transportation and industrial center. It recalls the construction of O'Hare Airport in suburban Chicago nearly two decades ago.

O'Hare serves an entire region and revitalizes a large area in terms of new industry and employment. O'Hare is much more than a Chicago airport. It is a multi-state facility, that provides road transportation and economic stimuli to the entire metropolitan Chicago area and areas of southeastern Wisconsin, northwestern Indiana and southwestern Michigan.

O'Hare Airport has brought hundreds of millions of dollars in economic activity and development to the Chicago area. The Columbia-Waterloo airport can provide similar economic activity for the St. Louis region.

Suit filed for license revocation

Granite City has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court in an attempt to have an order of the Illinois State Liquor Control Commission overturned and a permanent order of the Illinois State Liquor Control Commission to permanently revoke the liquor license of Rico's II, DuQuoin, 3675 Namekoi Road.

Schuler first ordered a permanent revocation of the license after a fatal shooting and a stabbing on the parking lot of Dec. 1975.

Anthony Augustine, owner, appealed that order to the state liquor control commission and after several months, the commission amended Schuler's permanent revocation order to 90-day suspension.

A request for a rehearing filed by Mayor Schuler was denied. In his suit against the liquor control commission, Rico's II, Anthony Augustine and Frantz, Inc., Schuler alleges the commission's order is contrary to law to the manifest weight of the evidence and is unsupported by substantial evidence.

He seeks an order from the court reversing the order of the commission and revoking the liquor license.

Rico's II attorneys filed an answer to the suit, in which they say Schuler's allegations are "wholly without merit and foundation," and request that he be dismissed after oral arguments are heard.

The lounge has remained open during the appeal period and court action.

Carter - People are out of work and leaders do not lead

Labor Day remarks of Democratic Presidential nominee Jimmy Carter - It is time to restore the faith of the American people in our government and to get our country moving again. This is a year for new ideas and a new generation of leadership, and that's what we're going to get. Republican policies during the last eight years have left the nation stagnant, divided and drifting.

This year, as in 1932, our country is divided, our people are out of work, and our national leaders do not lead. This year, as in 1960, our nation is drifting, without inspiration and purpose. Scandals and mismanagement have hit us like hammer blows while no one in authority will admit responsibility.

Inflation rates have been high. Is that what this nation really wants? Unemployment is the highest since the Hoover depression. Is that what we want in this country? The two greatest threats we face went into the red by more than $50 billion each. Is that what we want to continue doing?

My goals will be tough fiscal management leading to a balanced budget, fair taxes that will ease the excessive burdens now carried by working families, steps to control crime, a stronger defense and a foreign policy that will involve Congress and will be more open.

Americans who get up early every day and go home tired every night, quietly creating a better life for their families and fellow citizens.

Today, 88 million Americans are on the job - more than ever before in our nation's history. But we cannot be satisfied until every American who wants to work has a meaningful and productive job.

With the help of the dynamic American labor force, we will achieve that goal of full employment. To the workers of America, whether you work in factories, farms, offices, stores or construction sites, congratulations for a job well done.

Ford - More working than ever before in nation's history

Labor Day message by President Gerald Ford - Labor Day has a special significance in our Bicentennial year. This year, we Americans discovered a renewed spirit of confidence and unity as a spirit built in large measure upon the efforts and dreams of America's workers.

America has always been more than a nation. It has been the fulfillment of promises. Because America's workers of every generation rolled up their sleeves and went to work - because of that, we grow stronger every day.

Labor Day stands for America's greatest natural resource - not its minerals, its timber or its farmland, but its people.

Dating game at seniors' fair Friday

Can romance exist after the age of 65? Most older Americans give an unqualified "yes" to that question.

For proof, the Community Involvement Project (CIP) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will highlight its 1976 Senior Citizens Fair on Friday, Sept. 10, with a version of the "dating game" for seniors.

The event will be based on the defunct television series of the same name. The game will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Meridian Ballroom of the University Center.

There will be one male contestant and one female contestant. Each will ask questions of three contestants of the opposite sex.

One of the participants in each game will be selected as the first choice to go on a date with the question-asking contestant.

The two winning couples will be sent, courtesy of the CIP, on "extra special" dates which will be announced at the conclusion of the dating game, according to Paul Roesti, chairman of the fair.

The Senior Citizens Fair, a biennial program at SIUE, will begin at 9 a.m. Friday and continue throughout the day until 4 p.m. Quad-Cityans may further inform themselves about the fair from Roesti at 692-2686.

Now is the time to check your furnace and chimney

A little cleaning saves a lot of money

If you heat your home with natural gas, now is the time to check your furnace and chimney. It's worth a little effort to keep your heating system clean and the flue unblocked. You'll save on fuel bills and enjoy safe, trouble-free heating.

Here are a few checkpoints:

1. With a circulating warm air furnace, clean the heat exchanger and burners.
2. Clean or replace furnace filters frequently.
3. Clean lint regularly from hot water or steam radiators.
4. Flush the low water cut-off of a steam boiler once a week until water runs clear.

5. Clean lint and other debris from heat registers.
6. Blowers and blower motors should be cleaned and oiled sparingly at regular intervals. Make sure the blower belt is tight and not worn.
7. Make sure your chimney is free of debris. Check by placing a lighted match under the diverter, at the connection of the furnace exhaust pipe. If the flame goes out or downward, shut off the furnace until the chimney is cleaned.

Grants for education

Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Illinois) announced during the weekend that grants totaling $216,233 have been awarded to area educational institutions to support educational programs for underprivileged students.

Rep. Price said Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville received two grants worth a total of $184,084.

The Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center received $66,667 to finance counseling programs for veterans who are experiencing educational difficulties while at SIUE. Part of the grant will be directed to educational counseling already in progress, attempting to finish secondary education programs prior to entering college.

SIUE received $87,417 for hiring of special education personnel to assist culturally and educationally deprived students already in college, as well as to provide counseling for students preparing to enter.

Price said a third grant of $52,149 was awarded to the Educational Center of East St. Louis for an "educational talent search" project. In that program, counselors will visit high school students in the community, offering advice and help on the financial and educational problems of entering college.

The grants cover the period from Sept. 1 to June 30, Rep. Price said.

SAILOR OF THE MONTH, AN/Michael E. Godair, right, of the VFP-63 Detachment Three Maintenance Department, receiving a plaque for the honor awarded to him in August by CDR. David G. Bennett, VFP 63 skipper at the San Diego Naval Base in California. He received the award "after distinguishing himself among his peers through his consistently high achievements while working in the detachment." The serviceman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Godair, 1671 Third St., Madison, enlisted in April 1973.

Attempts here to reduce rail crossing hazards are cited

In response to a recent hearing on rail crossing safety in Granite City at which few of the officials present seemed aware of efforts here to obtain crossing signals for Mockingbird Lane, Louis Whitsell, supervisor of Namekiki Township, has written a letter to the Illinois Commerce Commission official who attended the hearing, reminding him of local actions to help achieve the signals.

In his letter, Whitsell told Ray L. Peters, chief engineer for the ICC, that he was shocked one seemed to recall petition drives, personal visits to Springfield, resolutions and promises for crossing signals at both the Mockingbird Lane and Lake Drive crossings just north of Route 162.

The letter listed five actions taken during the last four years to obtain crossing lights and gates — all unsuccessful so far. The five outlined by Whitsell were:

- (1) "November 1972, I contacted the Illinois Commerce Commission and Mr. King visited with Albert Bell, our highway commissioner, and informed him of the petition requirements."
- (2) "Residents of the area set up roadside petition booths to collect signatures on citizen petitions.

"The Madison County Board passed a resolution in July 1974 concerning the hazardous crossing of Mockingbird Lane."

"Senator Sam Vadalabene promised assistance to the mayor of Ponton Beach, Floyd David Moss, and myself on Aug. 9, 1974."

"State Representative John Sharp said, 'I have contacted the Illinois Commerce Commission regarding Mockingbird Lane.'"

"Mr. Peters, we hope that, now that this issue has been revived, you will personally follow through."

"As you know, there have been fatal accidents at these crossings — and broken promises have not remedied the situation," Whitsell's letter said.

"We want to bring other states up to our level, not cut our standards down to theirs."

"With more than a third of a million unemployed looking for work in Illinois, we need programs to create jobs."

"We need economic development to bring business here and expand the business we already have."

"We need aggressive pursuit of federal assistance to start projects that will put our people back to work."

"Illinois is not receiving its fair share of federal help. Federal money is going to the South and Southwest instead of to the Great Lakes and Northeastern states."

"For every dollar we send to Washington in taxes, we only receive back 72 cents. Illinois is in the lowest quarter among the five international service projects of Rotary."

Evers showed slides and pointed out how a student visiting a foreign country learns the language and culture of the country and returns to share the experiences with others."

Drew Karandjef reminded the members that all Camelot auction tickets and solicitations are due.

The annual benefit dinner and auction will take place at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 2, at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Vice-President Donald E. Van Horn presided at the meeting.

AT HEADQUARTERS HERE: A regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Madison County office of the district at 1707 Madison Ave., Granite City.

Board members are Russell D. Robinson, William M. Ebersold and Jack D. Scoville.

Howlett sees legislative gains in Labor Day talk in county

Only a Democratic victory Nov. 2 can "hold the legislative gains labor has made in Illinois during the last two years," Michael J. Howlett, Democratic candidate for governor, said last night.

Howlett was the featured speaker at a Democratic rally on Labor Day in the fairgrounds during the annual Bethalto homecoming at the fairgrounds in Bethalto.

"For 40 years, until 1975, Republicans controlled the Illinois Senate or the governorship," Howlett said. "They held the veto power that blocked progressive legislation supported by the Democrats and by labor."

"It was not until the Democrats won both Houses of the General Assembly under a Democratic governor that workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation and the state minimum wage went from near the bottom among the states to near the top."

"As governor, I would not support legislation to turn back the clock."

"I would consider anything our Democratic General Assembly would adopt to correct inequities found against either labor or business after the new laws have had a chance to work."

"My opponent told a Republican audience he would create an alliance between business and the governor's office."

"If he were elected, you can be sure the Republicans would help business try to turn back the clock on worker benefits," Howlett forecast.

"His thinking is the same that prompted the Republican Senate to bury progressive legislation for working men and women for 40 years."

In a Howlett administration, we will have an alliance of labor, farmers, business and the Governor's office."

"With a Democratic General Assembly we will keep the victories so dearly won, and go on to win others."

"I will fight to keep other states from using low worker benefits as a competitive advantage to lure plants from Illinois. I support legislation in Congress to fix uniform federal minimum standards."

"We want to bring other states up to our level, not cut our standards down to theirs."

"With more than a third of a million unemployed looking for work in Illinois, we need programs to create jobs."

"We need economic development to bring business here and expand the business we already have."

states in per capita grant funds received from the federal government.

"We need jobs, not only for the sake of the jobs, but for the sake of all our citizens."

"More men and women at work would mean more sales tax and income tax revenue for state government and less expense for unemployment compensation and welfare."

"It would mean enough money to fully fund the state school aid formula without a tax increase."

"It would stabilize the state's finances so we could provide the health and welfare and other human services the people expect and deserve."

"For an Illinois community, 100 new factory jobs would mean a population increase of 351, an increase of 68 more jobs in related activities, a growth in personal income of $1,036,000 and a growth in annual retail sales of $65,000."

"It is fitting that we use Labor Day as the kickoff day for our campaign in Madison County."

"Labor and the Democratic Party have led to guarantee every boy and girl a good education, to guarantee the dignity and self-respect of everyone, to make the tax load equitable for all."

"As governor, with your help, we will provide together to make our state number one among the 50 in which to live, work and raise a family."

Back Lynch has received party backing to become the Republican candidate for Madison County recorder of deeds.

He and his wife, Marie, along with their three-year old son, Brad, have lived for the last three years in Bethalto.

This fall he is graduating from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a degree in business administration, data processing and management.

Lynch has had extensive working experience, having been employed by the General Electric Co. for the past six years.

While serving in the U.S. Army, he was assigned as a combat infantryman in the First Cavalry Division in Vietnam. He was decorated for actions while in combat.

Lynch is a member of the First Baptist Church in East Alton. In addition, he belongs to American Legion Post 794.

Dr. Edward Ragsdale, chairman of the Madison County Republican central committee, has said that Lynch's candidacy for recorder of deeds will offer the voters a great deal of professional talent as both an administrator and public servant. We need a recorder of deeds with management experience. We need Bob Lynch."
